

spacing) to reduce window reflections. Naturescape your yard.

Happy Bird
© Green Girl LDS

Keep cats inside (preferred) or hang a bell on their neck. Don't use pesticides.

ing groundcover, shrubs, trees, & shade-adapted edibles together. Re-

Prefer natives. Create structure by plant-duce lawn or let it get tall. Don't apply

Plant something everywhere.
© Green Girl LDS

pest-, herb-, or fungicides. Depave.

to enjoy views of nature. Don't buy it unless you love it or can't do without it.

Forgive. Love.
Tiny Twiny Vine
© Green Girl LDS

Make and eat home cooked meals. Work less. Make your own fun. Embrace Turn off unneeded overnight lights & shade windows from late-Aug to mid-Nov & mid-Mar to early Jun (Pacific NW migration season). Use motion detectors on outdoor lights & point down or cover.

Night Life
©Green Girl LDS

Protect soil, when disturbed, it releases greenhouse gases. Consider alternative transportation for errands & destinations. Reduce, reduce, reduce, then reuse, then recycle. Switch a light to a CFL.

Spiky Sun
©Green Girl LDS

Leave piles of brush & decaying logs lying around for habitat. Protect soil, there's lots of beneficial life there. Turn an invasive tree into a snag by topping and girdling it. Grasscycle, don't rake.

Homes for All
©Green Girl LDS

If you use air conditioning, plant a tall deciduous tree on the south side & a short deciduous tree on the west. Shade the AC unit. Block the winter wind with conifers up to 30' from your house.

Blame it on the sunspots.
©Green Girl LDS